Vol. XXXIX San Jose, California, Thursday, Nov. 2, 1950 No. 26

UP ROUNDUP

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Two Puerto Rican revolutionaries attempted to assassinate President Truman today, but were shot down in a wild gun battle, as they tried to storm the president's Blair House residence.

Mr. Truman, who was taking an afternoon nap, was unharmed. Three White House policemen were wounded; two seriously.

One of the would-be assassins—Grisellio Torresola, a leader of the Puerto Rican movement—was shot dead at the foot of the Blair House steps.

The other—Oscar Collazo—was wounded and confessed afterwards that, "We came here with the purpose of shooting the president."

The Washington "assassination attempt came within the hour of an attempt by another black-shirted Puerto Rican Nationalist to blow up the office of the Puerto Rican government in New York.

The late Franklin D. Roosevelt was the target of the last previous assassination attempt on a U.S. president. At Miami, Fla., on Feb. 15, 1933, Joseph Zangara, an anarchist, fired a shot at President-Elect Roosevelt.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1.—Governor Earl Warren says James Roosevelt has conducted a "campaign of distortion" in seeking to succeed him as governor.

In a speech last night, the governor labeled his democratic opponent as an "old-fashioned medicine man who first fooled the people and then fleeced them."

Reverend to Speak

The Rev. Steven Early of Santa Clara university will be guest speaker following the regular business meeting of the Newman club tonight at Newman hall.

Couples Dance At Joint Meet As Fire Rages

Monday night while a basement rumpus room dance was being held at the Sigma Pi-Sigma Kappa joint meeting, a candle in a cardboard jack-o-lantern set the living-room curtains ablaze.

Sigma Pi adviser, Paul Ecker, before joining the basement festivities made a routine check of the upstairs and discovered the building blaze. Mr. Ecker threw the lantern in the fireplace and beat on the burning curtains which soon would have spread to the room's highly inflammable Halloween decorations.

The men of Sigma Pi, while chastising themselves would like to offer their near catastrophe as an example to other campus organizations.

SJS to Kick-out Gambling Students

Instant dismissal from school faces San Jose State college students caught conducting illegal football lottery games on campus according to Dr. T. W. MacQuarrie.

"The administration simply will not tolerate this unlawful practice on this campus," emphasized the college president.

Police raids on lottery establishments continued around the nation yesterday. Locally, police in Santa Cruz took into custody the operator of football lottery tickets. He is in jail on a $250 bail.

Lottery play has slackened off considerably on college campuses. The Daily Northwestern has been conducting a week long campaign complete with "secret pictures taken at the scene of the booking establishments". Reports state

Fresno State Students Give Rally Here Tonight

A two and one-half hour rally is in store for football enthusiasts this evening, according to Ron LaMar and Bob Dean, who are in charge of the Campus chest rally.

The Campus chest rally, to be held in the Morris Dailey auditorium tonight at 8 o'clock, was arranged in conjunction with the SJS-Fresno State college football rally and is of the exchange variety. Students from Fresno will perform here tonight while SJS rally members will entertain at Fresno.

A one-hour portion of the rally here will be presented by the Campus chest rally committee and Fresno entertainers will present the rest of the show. "Although Fresno has mailed no tentative program for their part of the show, we are assuming that it will be every bit as good as last year's show," according to Ed Dickinson, who, along with John Piotti, is co-organizer of the exchange.

After holding auditions and rehearsals all last week, LaMar and Dean are presenting a wide variety of entertainment. Eleven students, besides MCs Dean and LaMar will participate in the SJS portion of the program.

Leona Crouch will do a hula number; Marilyn Russell, a monologue; Ingrid Andersson and Rosemary Govveta each will present a piano solo; Gordon Schovldice will strum the ukelele; Ranella Williams will tap dance; Alice Hays, Del Duke, and Ruth Rector will combine into a vocal trio; Misty Gallot and Ron LaMar, a duet; and Rosalie Anzalone will sing a solo.

Surveying first day results of the Campus chest drive, Tom Evans, representing Spartan Shields, says that student cooperation has been fine so far, but adds that few students realize that the Campus chest drive is the only fund-raising campaign for the quarter.

"As a result," says Evans, "individual donations are not what they might be. To meet the quota, each student should donate about 50 cents."

that "cards have disappeared completely from the Mid-West campus after the expose."

"Sure, I'll give!" says Ray Lyon when asked to contribute to the Community Chest drive. If all students on campus would answer with the same reply, San Jose State college could surpass the quota set for the drive. With over 7000 students on campus, each person need only give 50 cents and the $2500 goal could easily be achieved. —photo by Gagnon

Sacramento Grants Allocation To SJS for Building Program

"Naturally we are pleased with the $1,559,970 allocation received Wednesday from Sacramento for the Engineering and Music buildings and the new dormitories," declared President T. W. MacQuarrie yesterday.

"However we don't expect ground to be broken on the sites for at least another year," the college president added.

The Music and Engineering buildings were allotted $1,441,700 for construction costs. Twin dormitories, one for men and one for women, have been allotted $148,270.86.

The two dormitories will have living space for a total of 400 students, 200 men and 200 women. They will be three stories high. Total cost per student to build the new dormitories will be $3600.

Sophs Sponsor New Program

Weekly Monday meetings of sophomore class leaders are brewing up something new in class meetings.

Each Monday at 2:30 p.m. the committee heads meet in the Student Union to form a group known as the "sophomore class mass meeting committee."

The idea behind all this is to sponsor a program in which the class as a whole will participate.

At present plans for the first "mass meeting" are being formulated. According to Seymour Abrahams, head of the committee, the first trial run for this event will be Dec 7. The class will gather in Morris Dailey auditorium at 7:30 o'clock to "get into the spirit of the thing" and hear short talks by different speakers. Short skits will be arranged.

Following the auditorium meet, the sophomores will attend a dance in the Student Union. Abrahams says the new Women's gym may be used if available by then. Arrangements are being made to hire a band for the dance.

Frosh to Sponsor After-game Dance

Dancetime pleasure galore is promised to students in the after-game "Sparta-Bulldog" dance sponsored by the freshman class. Dances will be held both at Newman hall and the student lounge.

James Jacobs, adviser for the class, said a pigskin theme will mark the 10:30 to 1:30 Friday night festivity. Tickets, on sale today and Friday, go at 35 cents per person. Dress is informal sport. Refreshments will be served.

Music will be recorded, but Jacobs hopes for "live" entertainers. He outlined "group" dance-work as follows: group "A", tickets; "B", publicity; "C", decorations; and "D", music and refreshments.

The Weather

If you didn't get a chance to hang out your laundry yesterday, today will be just as good and better for that sort of thing. In fact you can ditto that just about anywhere in northern California today, except for what the C. of C. likes to call "local fog" in San Francisco. "Lord-love-a-duck, guv'nor, it neva ryens in Frisco, it jes' fogs."

Pfeffer, pfeffer, mommy's little baby love pfefferneusse. (No charge for that; I just wanted to see if I could still spell pfefferneusse.)

Dr. Innes Speaks

Dr. T. Christie Innes of San Francisco Theological Seminary, will speak on the topic: "Changing Science and Unchanging Truth" at a CCF meeting in Room 531 today.

'Other Man' Causes Complications In Sheridan's 'School for Scandal'

By NANCY LOUGHLIN

When an elderly, goutish old bachelor converts his naive young country wife to sophisticated eighteenth century English society life, there are bound to be complications.

When a hypocritical gentleman dandy has designs on the old boy's wife, complications double.

BETTY SMITH as Lady Sneerwell in tonight's opening presentation of "School for Scandal" expressively demonstrates a point to Fred Adair who plays Sir Oliver Surface.

When two elderly scandalmongers recognize the situation and capitalize on it with their malicious chatter, complications multiply.

And when the father and brother of the villain decide to interrupt the proceedings with their own interests, complications know no end.

This is the situation first-nighters will encounter when the curtain rises tonight on the opening presentation of Richard Brinsley Sheridan's "School for Scandal" in the Little Theater.

Produced by the San Jose State college Drama department under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Loeffler, the play will star such newcomers to the local dramatic scene as Warren Blomseth, Gloria Pitcher, and Fred Adair. More familiar faces on the Little Theater stage will be James Jensen, Stanley Schwimmer, and Betsy Smith.

Martha Bowline, Judith Levy, Jack Byers, Joseph Markham, and Bert Graf are also featured, as are Robert Collins, John Allegretti, Tom Patterson, Richard Rizzo, Enid Cardena, and Lee Leidig. Robert Scruggs is stage manager. Settings are by J. Wendell Johnson and are executed by Mr. James Lioi with his crew of assistants.

Costumes are designed by Miss Berneice Prisk and made by her class in stage costume design.

Let's Have Some Support for the Frosh

San Jose State college's recent rise in the athletic world partially can be attributed to the sound backing given to freshman athletes. But if this quarter is any criterion, the Spartan student body is letting down our yearling athletes.

A Gold and White frosh football game recently exemplified this factor. Coach Tom Cureton's squad tangled with the Santa Clara university frosh in a tussle which was a "natural". The game provided all the entertainment one would want, and was not decided until the last 50 seconds when a Bronco quarterback scored to break up a deadlocked ball game.

Despite the fact that there were no other games in town, only a handful of rooters and spectators turned out from Sparta. Nearly four times as many Santa Clara backers were present in force.

San Jose boosters and the Spar-Ten club have moved behind the college's drive for better development of frosh athletics. The student body, however, has not risen to the occasion. The freshman athletes need and deserve sound student body support.

A journalist's dream comes through today in the Spartan Daily. For four years we have been taught the rules of what constitutes a top readership news story. Usually if we get one such yarn once a week we are satisfied. Today we hit the jackpot with a crash.

Tonight we shall have dreams of Pulitzer, Horace Greeley, James Gordon Bennett, Benjamin Day and William Randolph Hearst all smiling in their niche of heaven where all good type-tappers go.

Tomorrow we shall get back on the beam reporting class council meetings, fraternity dances and vets notices.

Thrust and Parry

In Answer to Moises de Guzman

Dear Thrust and Parry:

I am sorry that Student Moises de Guzman doesn't like me or my ideas. It is amusing, for we have much in common.

I, too, am of foreign birth; German to be exact. My father was placed in "protective custody" by the Nazis and was well on his way to Dachau, because he dared to express his views in 1933, and because he was partly Semetic racially. I know quite well, Mr. de Guzman, what totalitarian government can do. That is why I, too, am glad to be in America, and why, I, too, realize quite well what the fine and noble ideals of this nation are and how they are applied. I have made it my business to know, being of foreign birth, so that I can enter more fully into the thoughts and emotions of this wonderful land.

I am not at all worried about people like you, Mr. de Guzman, who are aware of the beauty of our country. It is those who so blithely take freedom for granted and, thus, who are subject to the lures of communism as a "new freedom", that worry me.

When a move to curtail thought, in any field, occurs, I find, I repeat, that the first step toward totalitarianism has been taken.

What I enjoy in this country especially, is the ability to have debates of this nature without the fear of concentration camps, or secret police, or threats to the lives of my family. But I do not think that emotional response to fear is the solution to our loyalty problems.

I will continue to object, not so much to the idea of loyalty oaths, (useless as a measure of security though they may be), but to the coercion, the direct compulsion, by which they are being put into effect. Therein lies the danger and the destruction of freedom. You, yourself, Mr. de Guzman, speak of whips, lashes, chains, and water cures. What greater force is there to direct human thought and emotion than hunger? Without pay checks one cannot eat.

And everyone is accepting this procedure as logical, orderly, patriotic, anti-communistic, and effective.

I do not; that is why I wrote my first letter, and why I am restating the same views in this one, with a little more personal background. I, myself, am not employed by the State, so I am not affected by the oaths. This will also clarify my point of view. I have been called everything from Nationalistic to unpatriotic in response to my first letter. Perhaps Internationalistic would be a better label, if one must be attached to me.

As long as people think, and are unafraid to think and express their views, there is no danger. But when, out of fear, they blindly follow their leaders without thought, without principle, the danger to loss of freedom and security is great.

One word more, Mr. de Guzman, about the security the oaths offer us. I can imagine no greater in-

Rabble or Rubble?

Dear Thrust and Parry:

We wish to support ASB's 607, 1715, and 1716.

In answer to the Unorganized Rabble, or should I say Rubble, we believe that the authors of said insult should study the situation a little bit more. We are not trying to say that we have the best cheer leaders around, but we do believe that the rooting section does not give their best support. At the USF game there was very little life in the rooting section even when yells were led.

As for Song Leaders, where have you been all your life? The girls were never intended to get out there and wave their arms like a choir leader.

We also think Ed Mosher had done O.K. so far with the rallies and card stunts even though the card stunts at USF were a flop, largely because of empty spaces and an inadequate PA system.

If we expressed ourselves fully, this issue would be banned in Boston. In the meantime we hope ASB's 2764, 3056, and 3058 had a good time at 5th and Hill with the rest of their kind. We doubt if Ed Mosher and company were looking for anyone there.

ASB's 479, 561, 562, 904, and 970.

security than that of loss of job, of means of living, and of social acceptance, if one refuses to sign the oaths. It is not remote philosophy to fear that sort of insecurity. You should know, better than most of us, what the insecurity of coercion actually is, Mr. de Guzman.

ASB Council Says No Employee Oath

There will be no ASB employee loyalty oath, according to action taken at the Student council meeting Monday afternoon in the Student Union building.

The motion was passed unanimously by the council members. Bob Madsen, ASB vice-president, made the motion that there be no oath. There was no discussion on the issue.

Members of the council have prepared a statement explaining their action on the loyalty oath issue, according to Tom Evans, council member. The statement will be released at next Monday's council meeting, after desired changes have been made by council members.

A motion to abolish the Inter-class council was tabled by council action until next week's meeting.

The constitution of the Young Republicans club was approved at the meeting. The organization now has on-campus standing.

Ed Mosher, Rally committee chairman, asked for and received permission to resume exchange rallies with COP. The practice was discontinued several years ago, according to Mosher, because of the low type of show COP presented.

The council also changed the date of the freshman class nominations from Friday, Nov. 24, to Wednesday, Nov. 22.

Maradel Vaughn, Spartan Co-ed, was appointed official parliamentarian for the Student council.

RC to Meet

The Rally committee will meet this evening at 7 o'clock in Room 24, according to Ed Mosher, Rally committee chairman.

The COP rosters' train committee will meet this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the Student Union according to John Melendez, chairman of the committee.

The Berkeley police department recently announced that 52 lady victims of a series of clothesline burglaries have reported to headquarters and claimed their stolen property.

Police caught the thief last month and promptly sent him to a psychiatric clinic. But before going away for treatment, he turned in his entire loot. It included:

Seven slips, 14 nightgowns, four foundation garments, 21 girdles, five panties, 58 bras, 22 pairs of stockings, two garter belts, and 10 pairs of falsies.

Officers said all items have been claimed except the falsies!

'Y' to Hear Sound Tracks of Olivier

In addition to selected material from the two Shakesperian dramas, vocal selections from the Operas Otello, Rigoletto, and Pagliacci, will be presented.

Further selections from material on hand will be played as requested. All interested are invited to attend, according to Jerry Ball, chairman of the group.

Upper-Class Mixer To Be Held Later

The junior-senior class mixer, tentatively set for Friday evening, Nov. 17, will be held at some later date senior class council members decided Monday. Reason for the postponement was that other activities on campus have been scheduled for the date.

A committee of senior class council members will meet today at 3:30 p.m. in the Student Union

Public to Hear Queen Patty

Miss Patty Burke, San Jose State college's choice for Homecoming Queen of 1950, will be interviewed tonight at 7 o'clock over the regular broadcast of Spartan Review, college-sponsored radio program, on station KEEN, Dr. Edgar E. Willis, faculty adviser, said yesterday.

In charge of arrangements for the show are Ed Hayden, Joe Bologna, and Marv Tumlin.

Following the Spartan Review show, "Drama Time" will be heard at 7:15 o'clock. Mark Twain's "The Celebrated Jumping Frog of Calaveras County" will be adapted for the program and will feature Bert Graf, Lou Ducharme, Jerry Concklin, Duane Shafer, Fred Adair, and Merle Rossman. Student director is Joe Bologna and sound is supervised by Bill Woodfint.

Fern Wendt Lauds, Directs Culinary Dept.

By DOROTHY JOCE

Are you a person who winces when dinner cooking time comes around? Not so Mrs. Fern Wendt, director of the San Jose State college cafeteria. Mrs. Wendt feeds 300 hungry Spartans a day and loves it.

"I find something very satisfying about cooking for a lot of people; I've always enjoyed it," Mrs. Wendt stated. And the energetic lady is well qualified to speak thus, having directed her whole career along culinary lines.

Back in the late 1930's, Mrs. Wendt worked her way through Kansas State college to receive a B.S. degree in institutional management and dietetics. A year's internship at Michael Reese hospital in Chicago followed her college days.

Mrs. Wendt entered her profession as a dietitian at a Wheeling, W. Va., hospital. In 1940 she turned her hand to college work and joined the staff of Louisiana Polytechnic institute at Ruston and then the faculty of Northwestern State college of Louisiana in the historic old city of Natchitoches.

The next step in Mrs. Wendt's career brought her to San Jose State college. In addition to managing the college cafeteria, she teaches courses in quantity cooking, institutional management and purchasing, and tea room management.

Her position in the cafeteria is a supervisory one. She oversees the functioning of the establishment, plans the menus, and does the grand scale purchasing. In a typical month, she buys 90 dozen eggs, 150 pounds of sugar, 200 pounds of flour, and 3450 bottles of milk.

Another food-serving establishment, the San Jose State college Tea Room, is under Mrs. Wendt's supervision during winter quarter. "This is one of our most popular projects," she said, "The students really like its 'different atmosphere'. The Tea Room even has candle light, but no wine."

The sans candle light cafeteria operates year-round on a non-profit basis. It serves as a laboratory for students taking the large quantity cookery class. "The girls do a very good job," Mrs. Wendt emphasized, "I keep reminding them that people are paying for the results of their cooking skill."

Mrs. Wendt finds San Jose State college's cafeteria different from those of other schools in several ways. More men than women patronize the establishment, almost as many faculty members as students are patrons, and a number of cafeteria-goers bring their own lunches and supplement them with hot dishes such as soup. "Which is fine with us," she stated, referring to the third factor.

Mrs. Wendt finds studying the food habits of people in different parts of the United States

Dean Benz Seems Pleased by Spirit

"I am impressed with the spirit of service that the students of San Jose State college seem to have and their desire to render services to other students, the college and the community," Dr. Stanley C. Benz, new dean of men of SJS, says.

Dean Benz arrived in San Jose during the summer and succeeds Dr. Paul M. Pitman, who recently accepted the presidency of the one of the most interesting phases of her occupation.

"Southerners prefer rice and gravy to potatoes, and their favorite green vegetables are turnip greens and mustard greens. In the Midwest the only seasonings accepted are salt and pepper. In California people like a heavy sprinkling of condiments."

Mary Worthless Gives Advice to 'Lovelorn'

(Ed. Note: Herewith, a new advice to the lovelorn column, constructed to aid those in trouble with Eros and his cohorts. If YOU are troubled by a problem too difficult to face alone, contact the Spartan Daily's own Mary Worthless).

Dear MAW,

Last Stanford game my boyfriend borrowed my Cadillac and my ASB card to take an "out-of-town cousin" to the game since I was sick in bed. Since that time I have seen neither hyde nor hair of cad or Cad.

My problem is this: Do you think I should go on borrowing my roommate's ASB card?

I Want To Do The Right Thing.

Dear IWTDTRT,

My assistant, Sam, would like to have your phone number before we can give you an answer. In the meantime, when your mascara runs, go inside, it's raining.

MAW.

Dear MAW,

Up until last summer boys didn't pay much attention to me. But at Santa Cruz I met a peachy guy who taught me how to open beer bottles with my teeth and since then I have all sorts of dates especially on Friday afternoon.

There's only one trouble. I hear that canned beer is coming in and

College of Idaho after 11 years as dean here.

The new dean, who came to SJS from Purdue university at Lafayette, Ind., where he served as director of counseling, says he is impressed with the willingness of the faculty members to serve beyond the minimum requirements of their jobs as advisers to student organizations.

"Another unique thing about SJS is the sportsmanship displayed at football games. I never before have seen the wonderful tradition of everybody staying in the bleachers until the players leave the field," Dr. Benz says.

I'm afraid that I'll lose my popularity. What can I do?

Anxious.

Dear Anxious,

Sam's frat just pledged a man from Watsonville who can open beer cans with his canine teeth. We suggest you contact this charming boy at the Chi Rho house on S. 35th street.

MAW.

Dear MAW,

I am a P.E. major. A girl P.E. major. I have trouble keeping friends. Boy friends, I mean. Either their block sweaters or rings are too small for me and I rip and break them or they don't let me play on their intra-mural football teams. When they don't let me play I get mad. And I will hit them with the goal post or the 50 yard line. Or maybe the 40 yard line too if I am real mad as I most always am. You see I am a P.E. major. A girl P.E. major.

Can you tell me how I can overcome my temper.

A Girl P.E. Major

Dear Girl,

Try counting to 10, to the 10 yard line that is. By that time, the poor boys will have a chance to get away.

MAW.

Cuttin' Capers

By FERMO CAMBIANICA

What is this world coming to? Tomorrow night the Spartan Daily is going to try something new in the way of football coverage. A dame is going to cover the SJS-Fresno State game; that's right, one of those things with skirts. From the way the present Daily sports staff has been doping the grid games lately, it probably wouldn't be a bad idea to let the women pick them from now on.

Donnie Nunes, the Daily's society editor, is going to take a whirl at relating what the players will wear instead of what the costumes were at a ball or night club. Monday morning when you guys and gals pick up your papers, don't be surprised if you notice something like the following in the football write-up:

"Although the little Bulldogs didn't win, they showed plenty of spirit. . . . The quarterback's hair hung quite long at the shoulders in the back, and was cut in bangs in the front. . . . The big tackle broke a fingernail while politely escorting the man with the ball to the ground. . . . The quarterback did the Charleston while the halfback was doing a ballet."

There should be a law against it. Pretty soon they'll want to go to the players' dressing room to get the coach's after-game statement. They'll probably be going out for football, too. Don't laugh, brother, it's happening in the funny papers.

I think I'll cut into their racket and write up the next wedding story. On second thought, there's just two bullets left in this revolver. Would anyone care to share one with me?

As for you male sports writers (if there are any left) in the press box tomorrow night, keep your eyes on the playing field.

Getting back to predictions, there's only one guy that has a poorer percentage than the Daily sports staff. Will Ed Roper kindly take a bow?

It's guys like him who are driving coaches batty with their weather forecasts. Where would Coach Bob Bronzan be if he read Roper's forecasts? First, Roper says it's going to rain; then he says it isn't. Of course, he's wrong every time. One thing for certain, though, he'll be out of a job if he keeps it up.

Switching to baseball, there's the time that a batter was called out on strikes and disgustedly threw his bat into the air. The umpire behind the plate calmly stated:

"If that bat comes down, you are out of the ball game."

Returning to females, there was a woman golfer who was having a bad time on the golf course. After flubbing an easy shot, she turned angrily on her snickering caddy:

"If you don't stop that," she screeched, "you'll drive me out of my mind."

"That wouldn't be a drive," answered the boy, "it would be only a putt."

Fresno State Out to Even Raider Series

By FERMO CAMBIANICA

Fresno State college will be out to even its rivalry with San Jose State college tomorrow night at Spartan stadium, when the two teams meet in their 19th gridiron classic.

The Spartans have brought home the bacon eight times, while the Bulldogs have taken seven contests from the home team. Three of the contests ended in a deadlock.

Last year the locals went down to Fresno and blasted their rivals out of the stadium by the tune of 43-7.

Duke Jacobs, who is in his first season as head mentor of the Bulldogs, has installed the split-T formation at Fresno State. Last year Jacobs was assistant coach at Oklahoma university where Bud Wilkinson is employing the same system.

Bulldog Record

The Bulldogs have split even in their first five games of the 1950 season, having defeated University of Hawaii, 34-20, and Cal Poly, 31-7, and losing to Santa Barbara, 13-7, and College of Pacific, 52-7. They came out even with San Diego State after both teams had scored 20 points.

The Spartans have managed to fare a little better this season, having won three of their first six encounters, with one of the victories being over San Diego State, 26-0.

Other Gold and White successes have been against Pepperdine, 48-7, and Santa Clara, 14-10. Coach Bob Bronzan's men lost a 33-16 thriller to Stanford, and after a couple of victories, they came out on the short end against Loyola, 14-7, and USF, 27-0.

Scales Passer

The Bulldogs will be led by Quarterback Bob Scales, who has completed 15 out of 34 throws for 227 yards. Halfback Johnny Morse and Fullback Nick Dokoozlian (he should have gone to Stanford) also will carry the load for the visitors. Morse has a 6.38 rushing average, while Dokoozlian has averaged 4.73 yards on the ground.

Fresno State has three outstanding men on the line who should give the Spartan backfield some trouble in Carl Faller, Jim Schwabenland, and Len Stewart.

Students and faculty members with ASB cards may secure tickets to the SJS-Fresno State game in the Graduate Manager's office, the office reminded.

All seats for the football game are reserved and no tickets will be available at the stadium gate before game time. Game-goers are urged to get their tickets now free of charge with ASB cards.

Freshman Mermen Beat Sequoia High

Yearling mermen of San Jose State college squelched the Sequoia High school squad 8-7 in a hard fought contest in the high school pool Monday evening.

Once again it was the cyclonic offensive work of center forward Chester Keil that paced the Spartababes to a win. Keil hit the net three times, Donald Wegener scored twice, and Henry Down, Keith Endersby, and Taylor Hathaway each threw for one point.

The frosh will clash with Palo Alto High school swimmers tonight in the Spartan pool at 8 as a preliminary game to the varsity tilt between San Jose State college and Stanford university.

The varsity game is scheduled to start at about 9 p.m.

Schmidt Tells Contest Rules

Floats entered in competition in the 1950 Alumni Homecoming parade on Nov. 8, will be judged by their originality and workmanship; how they conform to the announced theme; and what the finished product looks like. This information was released yesterday by Jerry Schmidt, chairman for the parade.

Three judges will award a possible 100 points to each of the entrants. The float which tallies nearest to the 300-point maximum will be awarded first place in the contest, according to Schmidt.

Each judge may award a possible 20 points for originality; 20 points for theme; 20 points for workmanship; and 40 points for the finished product, to each entrant.

Committee Meets

The Homecoming committee will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock in Room 24 to make further arrangements for next week, according to Dick Russo, committee official.

Former Spartans Perform For Amateur Grid Team

By DAN HRUBY

San Jose's Packers, amateur football squad, are blazing an unprecedented trail through the forests of Northern California football this season.

The Packers, undefeated and untied in nine games to date, are comprised mostly of former San Jose State college pigskin standouts. The local eleven, which has been devouring and spitting out opponents with monotonous regularity, has racked up 410 points in nine frays. The Packers undoubtedly are the highest scoring team in the country, despite similar claims made by the Ohio

CHUCK HUGHES

State Buckeyes, the Petaluma Leghorns and Gustavus Adolphus college.

Members of the Northern California Athletic Conference, the Packers are bidding for the loop title with the stiffest competition coming from the Horse-trader Ed's Broncos and Petaluma. The San Joseans last Sunday rolled over the Broncos, 27 to 13, at the Fremont high school gridiron at Sunnyvale. The Packers meet the Sunset club of San Francisco Sunday on the same field.

In recent frays, the local grid-ders have been paced by Ex-Spartans Steve O'Meara, Jack (Sharkey) Donaldson, Marv Johnson, George Keene, George Persha, Al Cadena, Chuck Hughes, J. Faulk, Fred Silva, Don Dambacher, Kevin Costello, Bob Campbell, Ed Salvadalena, John Steele, Faus Smythe, Ron Padilla, Val Marchi, Dean Sophia, Bob Edminister, Woody Linn and Searcy Miles.

Like a professional football team, it is difficult to isolate the salient stars on the Packer roster. With veteran competitors such as Donaldson and Faulk, who earned All-This and All-That honors nearly every year in college, the Packers spell danger every time they march out on a gridiron, and their record is tangible proof.

If there is any reader contemplating starting an amateur pigskin team, a visit with Mario Valdastris and Joe Juliano may result in a definite change of plans.

Valdastris, Spartan from Hawaii, an dJuliano, former Raider lineman who was Little-All Coast in 1948, coach the Packers, and can testify to the innumerable pangs connected with organizing and running a football machine.

Next week's gate, laundering uniforms, general finances, playing fields, team morale and last week's gate are only the crust of the worries and headaches that have beset the Packer mentors this season.

Again like a pro team, the Packers face a problem which often is unknown to college teams. The fans, out for entertainment, are not always satisfied with just a football game. General flash, display, unusualness and a loud band often fully do not satisfy many sensation-hunting grid fans, so the players must take up the slack with clean, hard, pigskin finesse, along with a little razzle-dazzle.

The black and red Packers, however, fortunately have not encountered too much difficulty in pleasing Gus Q. Fan this season.

Probably no other team ever has weathered such a collection of strange and unique situations as has faced the Packers in recent games.

Recently, against the Oakland

Rams, who bowed to San Jose, 59-0, mammoth Woody Linn kicked off after a touchdown. Knifing into a strong wind, the ball suddenly reversed its travel and buttonhooked toward the charging Packers. Linn caught his own kickoff on the 50-yard line and ploughed forward for 10 more yards with tacklers hanging on.

In another fracas, an opposing quarterback pulled a split-T play. Taking the ball from the center, he handed the ball off to a coming halfback, but Bob Santos, San Jose end, neatly and obligingly took the hand-off and ran 40 yards to pay dirt.

Against the San Leandro Redskins, Steve O'Meara crashed over guard in the second quarter and ran 60 yards to a T.D. On the following kick-off, a Redskin seatback romped 9-yards to score. Receiving the next kickoff, Marv Johnson ran it back 88 yards for a touchdown. The opponents racked up 239 yards in three successive plays.

Prisk Displays Costume Plates in SJS Library

Now on display in the library is a set of costume plates depicting the costumes to be worn in the Speech and Drama department's production of Sheridan's "School for Scandal", opening Thursday night in the college Little Theater.

The plates are in water colors and are the work of Miss Bernice Prisk of the department faculty. The drawings were used by students in Miss Prisk's classes as models for the designing of the costumes.

Accompanying each of the plates are swatches of the material relating to the particular costume of the character depicted.

Reflecting a period of high ornamentation in dress, the plates at the same time take notice of the early 19th century reaction against excesses of all kinds, which followed the French Revolution of 1889.

Influences of the earlier period are seen in the wigs, the extensive use of lace, the violent colors and the knee breeches in the dress of the men. Ruffles at the bosom, the full skirt and the short waistline are indicative of the antebellum in women's costuming.

Home Econ Shows 'Theobrama Cacao'

"Theobrama Cacao" is the theme of this week's home economics department exhibit. Located in the north end of the building, the display shows chocolate from plantation to table.

One feature of the exhibit is a relief map of part of Mexico and the West Indies. In an enlarged section of the map natives are knocking down cacao pods as ancient explorers land on the shore.

Theobrama cacao, the technical name for the cacao, is an old Mexican term meaning food of the gods. The title was derived from an old Mexican legend. The exhibit was prepared by Joyce Harris, senior home economics major.

An indication of what was to come in dress after the spread of the revolutionary spirit is obvious in the almost total absence of the older excess of ornamentation in the deep violet costume of Mrs. Candour. But the bustle, the full skirt and the gathered waist remain.

Studio Shows Oil Paintings

Paintings by a San Jose Normal school graduate of 1897, Frank H. Cutting, may be seen Saturday at a local studio.

Cutting, an early Campbell settler, is well known throughout this area for his oil paintings.

After graduating from what was then San Jose Normal, Cutting taught school for two years. The cover of the first issue of Campbell Union high school's annual, the "Oriole" was his work.

The frontispiece of the 1929 La Torre was taken from Cutting's oil painting of the campanile here on the campus.

The exhibit may be seen at Park's Picture framing shop from Nov. 4 to Nov. 18. Students are invited to the display by the studio.

A third group, the Worship Workshop, is designed as a training group for students interested in leading worship services. This group is under the chairmanship of David Cone. Any interested student may participate.
